let the story unfold

The 019 collection is carefully selected to bring both new ideas and bold takes on classic designs to your home.

The rule of thumb when selecting our designs is that anything goes. You should not feel restricted by conventions but rather play around with the different designs until you find just the right expression. That is what we have done in this catalogue.

The houses we have chosen as backdrop for this catalogue present you with bespoke kitchen solutions chosen carefully to complement the different design schemes. We will show you how furnipart can be used as a complementary accent to underline the interior design in the best possible way.

We welcome you inside, and now; let the story unfold!

Contemporary living

In a forest reserve in Jutland, Denmark, lies an architectural dream house. It is designed by architect Lars Bo Poulsen from N+P ARKITEKTUR and was built in 2016 by owners Birgit and Preben Jakobsen. The house was awarded a price in 2017 and even caught the eye of The Wall Street Journal back in October 2018 as they printed the story about the house.

modern house

Contemporary living

Birgit and her husband Preben tell the story behind their home.

"It has been very important to us that the house makes both us and our guests feel at home. We have wanted a relaxed feel, which we believe has been accomplished."

See extended editorial edition at www.furnipart.com

The house has been made to complement the owners' way of life in every single detail. Clean surfaces and functional solutions tells you that these owners cherish an active everyday life with minimal fuss and open spaces.

The handles we have chosen to complement their interior style add just the right amount of distraction to the otherwise discrete cabinets.

Accents of Nordic living

Upstairs & downstairs

Just outside the city of Ebeltoft, Denmark, you find this stunning home and stud farm owned by June Maria and Mikael Stevn. This home features an eclectic mix of old and new combined in a surprisingly light and very Nordic way. Opulent coloured textiles and modern art reveals that the family, whose life is lived within these walls, has a keen eye for design details. The rusticity and use of leather bears witness to the owners' work as stud farm owners.

Accents of Nordic living

Upstairs & downstairs

Homeowner June Maria Stevn invites us inside and reveals the story behind the couples' home.

"The number one criteria for our home is that it should be a nice and relaxing place to live. It's a classic estate filled with colours and decorative bits and pieces which make this house our home and reflect who we are and what we do."
